Dear Miss Loving,

Received your April issue of Post Script somewhere in England. Sure is a swell little paper. Always like to know what all the guys are doing. I like England very much. The country is swell and since it is spring, it's better. If you get what I mean. I haven't much to say and they won't let me say anything anyway. I did meet my cousin here. He is stationed here on the same base. Small world. At this point some fellow is hammering and sawing here in barracks. Quite interesting, no one knows what he is building. Someone is always building something. We [have] benches, tables, bookcases, foot lockers, book ends, boxes of all sizes and shapes. I'll be a first class carpenter when I get home.

Yours sincerely,

Fred
